

From: Wendy wendynash@mac.com
Subject: Fwd: easiest noodle kugel - WN ADAPTED
Date: September 19, 2010 at 1:44 PM
To: Wendy wendynash@mac.com

WN

use whole 12 ounce bag of noodles, 3 cups lowfat milk, 2 cups 1% cottage cheese (whipped), 2 chopped apples,
1 tspn vanilla, sprinkle of dried cranberries

This Epicurious.com recipe:

Easiest Noodle Kugel

has been sent to you from wnash

wnash wants you to know:

You can view the complete recipe online at: <http://www.epicurious.com/recipes/food/views/100318>

Easiest Noodle Kugel

12 ounces wide egg noodles

1 cup chopped apples (approx 2)

sprinkle of dried cranberries

5 large eggs (or egg beaters)

1 cup sour cream (reduced fat)

1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter, melted, cooled

1/3 cup sugar

3 cups lowfat milk must

1 cup 1% cottage cheese 2 cups

3 cups cornflakes, coarsely crushed

1/4 cup (packed) dark brown sugar

Preheat oven to 350°F. Butter 13 x 9 x 2-inch glass baking dish. Spread uncooked noodles over bottom of prepared dish and sprinkle with apples & cran. Whisk eggs, sour cream, butter, vanilla and sugar in large bowl until smooth. Whisk in milk & cottage cheese and pour mixture over noodles. Let kugel stand 5 minutes.

Mix cornflakes and brown sugar in bowl; sprinkle evenly over kugel.

Bake kugel until set in center, about 1 hour. Cut kugel into squares. Serve warm or at room temperature.